The first business of the evening was accomplished by the President's address to the Convention. In the calling of the roll the following were absent: (names not recalled). The addresses of former members were all expressed with the exception of Mr. Smith and Mr. Brady, who were each given five minutes. The resolutions of former members were read and adopted. There being no resolutions to report the regular performances were next in order. The terms of office expired the President left, after delivering a few very interesting remarks by way of valedictory. The newly elected President took the chair delivered an inaugural and then entered upon the discharge of the duties of his office. On calling in the performers for the evening the following were called about Henry, Latham, McLean, Drury, John and Francis, a Kinsman and John were handed in to the hands of the committee for non-performance but were excused, the latter being absent. Mr. Smith was called upon by the President to deliver an address.
 The call was accepted, He chose the gloomy motto of the Society, the address was pleasing and substantial and was heard to the delight. Debate decided by the yeas in favor of negation by the house in the affirmative.
 Mr. Wallcut's business being next in order Messrs. Hays, Hays, were received as active members of the Society.

Dr. Armstrong then arose and requested the society to excuse him from performance at the coming exhibition, his classes being at a private session he did not make them known. After some discussion a motion was made that he (Dr. Armstrong) should be given his request but was lost. Armstrong then declined performing at the exhibition. A motion was then made to reconsider the former motion which was carried, after duly considering the matter the original motion was again put and carried, and a motion was then made that Dr. Smith be appointed to fill the place of the gentleman who declined.

Dr. Armstrong's performance for two was assigned as follows.

A special meeting was called by the President, and opened with prayer. The roll being called, the object for which the Society convened was read, however, which was to take into consideration the list with of acting concerning Mr. Hanson who accepted on performers for the coming exhibition, but not being able to attend until through the session, it was thought best to remove him and have another appointed in his place. A motion was made that Hanson be removed as a performer and another be appointed to fill his place, the motion being considered without an opposition it was with drawn and an amendment substituted for it, as follows, Moved that Hanson be retained as a performer for the coming exhibition but was lost. It was then moved that W. Hanson be appointed to fill Hanson's place, which was carried, —

Our motion adjourned. —
